Why is this experience so important?

On our personal journey to find a career we pass through these different phases:

Learning ABOUT Work (First we begin to become aware of the different types of careers in elementary school)

Learning THROUGH Work (Then, we explore different career types based on personal interests in middle school)

Learning FOR Work (Finally, we start career planning and training in high school)

This opportunity gives students a way to learn about the different work opportunities that are available to them.

Please consider joining us for this free opportunity!

Registration opens April 10th!
